2. Later installation of the license file / License renewal

This instruction explains you how to import your license file after you have installed the Avira AntiVir PersonalEdition Premium or to simply renew the existing license.

Open the entry Load license file via the menu item Help....

Open the directory My Documents and click on the license file HBEDV.KEY once.

Now you can click on Open in this dialogue.

If the license file was installed successfully, the following message will appear.

3. Manual installation of the license file

If the previous steps have failed, the Avira AntiVir Software only works in demo mode.

Alternatively you can also copy the license file HBEDV.KEY manually with the help of the Windows Explorer or workstation through the symbol on the computer desktop.

Please make sure that the Avira AntiVir window is closed during the following procedure.

Change to the folder "My Documents" on your computer desktop in order to copy the license file manually. Click on the license file HBEDV.KEY directly with the right mouse button and select the entry "Copy".

Now change to the installation directory of your Avira AntiVir Software (C:\Program Files\AntiVir PersonalEdition Premium\) and insert the license file into this directory through the menu bar „Edit – insert the license file“.

Possibly an indication may appear saying that the file already exists. Please confirm the question with "Yes" in order to overwrite the old license file.

Please check if the license file was integrated correctly.

You can find the complete license information in the program under "Help - About Premium ... – License information".

If you get a message indicating that the license has expired, please check your system time first. If it is correct, please send us the license file to support@avira.com so we can examine it.

We hope this instruction was helpful for you. We wish you all the best and a safe time with your new Avira AntiVir PersonalEdition Premium.
